

"Now, once I feel myself observed by the lens, everything changes: I constitute myself in the process of 'posing,' I instantaneously make another body for myself, I transform myself in advance into an image."

"A specific photograph, in effect, is never distinguished from its referent (from what it represents)."

myself in advance into an image."
make another body for myself, I transform in the process of 'posing,' I instantaneously lens, everything changes: I constitute myself Now, once I feel myself observed by the

represent(s)."
from its referent (from what it effect, is never distinguished ni, photograph, in

"To recognize the studium is inevitably to encounter the photographer's intentions."

"A photograph's punctum is that accident which pricks me (but also bruises me, is poignant to me)."

